I received your message of your new phone number this morning and was very honored. It was a voice mail i could listen to this morning, so that was something.

The answer is that is a good email subject!!! Have you seen Planet of the Apes? I mean the new remake not the old crappy movie with bad effects!!

LOL @ : [ being rolleyes!!#!#! So can you explain the ending to me? I just didn't get the ending! It is really pissing me off.

From: Accountant Jim      Sent: Tuesday, January 29, 2002 9:09 AM

Ehhhhh, the ending. Yes, um, well, he kisses michael jackson and then leaves the ape planet where his ship had crashed and ended up going through the time warp cloud and landing on earth in our time but instead of people it was full of monkeys!!!!

From: Professor Jim

That does not explain the ending, you merely recounted it. It is similar to how you reword things i say!!@ Why the heck would our time have monkeys taken over everything and driving police cars and pointing guns and etc.!!@#!$@!

From: Accountant Jim

it is a tip that i do not quite understand the ending so i just reworded it thus implying that the ending was self-explanatory and that you were just an idiot!!!! i think i accomplished all objectives!!@!

INSTEAD OF PEOPLE IT WAS FULL OF POLICEGUNPOINTING MONKEYS AND ABRAHAM MONKEYLINCOLN DUH IT IS SELF-EXPLANATORY!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

You're an IDIOT!!!#!@#@!@ ( ) ( ) ( ) ( ) ( )

okokokokok, the ending shall be broken down and dissected as befits any great work of art:

First lets create a timeline of what we "know":

The movie begins in the future where Marky Mark is on the space station training the monkey to fly the little ship. This will be our base reference time. For arguments sake lets just say that this is in 3000 AD. Ok? ok.

In 3000 AD the universe is as we expect, with humans ruling and all that crap. Then the monkey and Marky Mark fly into the time warp cloud ( : [ @ that whole deal ). Anyway, obviously, Marky Mark goes way into the future. (actually, doesn't the movie show the time dial on his ship rapidly flipping through dates? Which way was it going? And why the hell does a little pod ship have a date flipper device!!!???? AAAAAGHHHHH MADDENING!@!!!!) okokokok, it doesn't REALLY matter which direction he was going... but we will say future.

We also know that after he disappeared into time (: [ ) their space station either 1.timewarped and crashed or 2.crashed in 3000AD onto the ape planet. Let's say it missed the cloud and just went to the planet to try to find him in 3000AD but then crashed so they were screwed. OK so at 3000 AD the supermonkeys started to take over and develop so that by the time marky gets there centuries later we have the monkey society that he finds.

So far we have:
Space Station crashes 3000 AD
Marky Mark meets monkeys 5000 AD

This is the time frame in which the majority of the movie takes place. Then Marky Mark takes off to try to get back to where (when) he came from (3000AD).

So he pods his way up into the time warp storm cloud (it's not really a cloud, but it's pretty time though) and heads back in time and lands on Earth (?). However, he obviously doesn't land on Earth in 3000 AD it is more like 2000 AD because it looks just like today with regular cars and things. Also everyone is a monkey.

Obviously at this point the movie makers do not want us to know what the sam hell blazes is going on so that we are so confused we HAVE to come see the sequel just to get the story straight. But the way i see it there are really only two acceptable explanations for the ending of this movie.

Explanation #1: The space station did go through the time warp cloud and ended up landing on that planet way back in time, like maybe 4000 BCE or somesuch so that apes developed instead of man. This explanation also needs for the planet the apes were living on to be earth and also be the planet marky lands on in the end. hmmm... this isn't working. Because when Marky is on the planet that space station is still there in the sand and it is obvious the monkeys developed from there and there is no room in that scenario for monkeyearth. (@)(@) Unless that whole movie takes place WAY in the past and at the end he jumps into the future and somehow the man/monkey lovefest he propogated there at the end didn't work and the monkeys ended up dominant anyway. No, no, i don't like this explanation at all... it's out. Which leaves me with only one explanation.

Explanation #2: When the space station crashed on the monkey planet in 3000AD, the monkeys started developing and eventually took over. Well, at least one of said monkeys took off in a pod at some point, hit the storm cloud and landed on earth way the hell in the past and changed everything that happened to man into monkeyhistory instead. That's GOT to be it. So there you have it. A pod still worked after the crash and monkeys flew to earth. Maybe that stupid little monkeyjesus that landed there in the end even piloted them there. Who knows.

THE ANSWER IS THIS IS AN EMAIL!!!!!!!!!!!!

From: Professor Jim      Sent: Friday, February 01, 2002 3:48 PM

Finally, please look below.

- The movie begins in the future where Marky Mark is on the space station training the monkey to fly the
- little ship. This will be our base reference time. For arguments sake lets just say that
- this is in 3000 AD. Ok? ok.

Here is as good as place as any to interject. If I recall correctly, and I believe I do, it was closer to 2100. We shall call it 2150 AD. They showed the date in his pod before they started showing the date device scrolling forward through the years rapidly when he hit the storm.

- In 3000 AD the universe is as we expect, with humans ruling and all that crap. Then the monkey and
- Marky Mark fly into the time warp cloud (: [ @ that whole deal ). Anyway, obviously, Marky Mark goes
- way into the future. (actually, doesn't the movie show the time dial on his ship rapidly flipping
- through dates? Which way was it going? And why the hell does a little pod ship have a date flipper
- device!!!!???? AAAAAGHHHHH MADDENING!@!!!!) okokokok, it doesn't REALLY matter which direction he was
- going... but we will say future.

Ok, you are absolutely right here. This is one of the main reasons of my confusion! His ship has a date flipping device that scrolls through the years. I suppose if they knew it was some sort of time travel storm... well, Marky mark doesn't seem to be aware of possible random time travel dangers so I would think they don't know this. Anyway, his ship has a date thing, that is smart enough to calculate the date apparently, or to know that he is flying through time and should flip the dates accordingly!!! What is weird, is Marky mark, a trained professional pilot of said ship seems to be completely unaware of this date telling device for he does not once ever appear to consult it, though they show it to us the audience. Anyway, when he first goes after his monkey and hits the time storm thingy, it shows the year go from sometime in the 2100s to sometime in the 2500s. Then it stops and he crashes on a planet. They at no time mention what planet he crashes on. His ship sinks into the pond or lake in the forest. He swims to the top and exits said water and is captured by evil talking monkeys. These monkeys are apparently apes who get very upset when you call them a monkey, which added entertainment value to the movie! :D

- We also know that after he disappeared into time (:[]) their space station either 1.timewarped and
- crashed or 2.crashed in 3000AD onto the ape planet. Let's say it missed the cloud and just went to the
- planet to try to find him in 3000AD but then crashed so they were screwed. OK so at 3000 AD the
- supermonkeys started to take over and develop so that by the time marky gets there centuries later we
- have the monkey society that he finds.
- So far we have:
- Space Station crashes 3000 AD
- Marky Mark meets monkeys 5000 AD

Close. but A) it is not assumed he goes into the future, it is fact. And B) I think it does matter which way he goes. And your dates are a little long. They should be roughly 2150 AD and 2587 AD.

- This is the time frame in which the majority of the movie takes place. Then Marky Mark takes off to try
- to get back to where (when) he came from (3000AD).

2150 AD, but yes.

- So he pods his way up into the time warp storm cloud (it's not really a cloud, but it's pretty time
- though) and heads back in time and lands on Earth (?). However, he obviously doesn't land on Earth in
- 3000 AD it is more like 2000 AD because it looks just like today with regular cars and things. Also okokokok, So you skip a few facts here. Let's go back to 2587, where he was on the first monkey planet place. He has in the crashed space ship the BAD monkey. He was trapped behind the glass with the gun but not dead. Then they flash to outside the ship and apparently the monkeys and humans are going to live in peace. And the trader monkey, (I like that actor, I can picture his non-monkey face but can't think of his name) thanks him for opening up a whole new world of trading with the humans. They want him to stay and he just has to leave and see if he can go back and fix what he has done... after all, this is all his fault for going after his damn monkey!!!@#!# So he goes up and finds the storm. It is 2587. He flies into the storm. They show the damn date tracker in his ship again!! (@) :[!! and magically this time it goes backwards, and according to the date tracker thingy, it is 2150 AD again!!@#!@# Now backtrack a little bit, the first time he came out of the cloud, he was basically out of control heading for the planet, and he crashed, I thought not much of it. Ok, this time! He came out of the cloud and pretty much seemed a-ok, So he plots a course for some planet, again, they never mention either time what planets he is going to. So he plots a course for this planet. Now he reaches the planet and for some reason loses control of his ship and has to crash on the planet!!@#@$ How come the freaking monkey can land the pod on a planet and he can't!@#!@#!@#!@ Fricking Marky mark sure is a crappy pilot!! So anyway, he crashes on some planet back in 2150 AD... according to his date tracking device in his pod that he knows nothing about but the film makers show us!!
- everyone is a monkey.

- Obviously at this point the movie makers do not want us to know what the sam hell is going on so that we
- are so confused we HAVE to come see the sequel just to get the story straight. But the way i see it
- there are really only two acceptable explanations for the ending of this movie.

- End of Monkey Email!!!!!!!!!!

Ok, well, you are right, that was an email. and this is another one. All that I said is irrelevant and your explanation 2 still works. Though it is dumb. And if a monkey went back and changed history so that everything is monkeyearth then wouldn't marky mark not even exist!!@#! Ok, we shouldn't even go there. Anyway, the other weird thing is the writing on the wall by the monkey statue by where he crashed (:[] his pod said blah blah, here contains the soul of General Thade who saved us or something like that! That just happens to be the name of the monkey trapped in the glass with the gun in the buried ship in the sand in 2587!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!1

Ok, I am sending this now, because I am busy!

- Here is as good as place as any to interject. If I recall correctly, and I believe I do, it was closer
- to 2100. We shall call it 2150 AD. They showed the date in his pod before they started showing the date
- device scrolling forward through the years rapidly when he hit the storm.

Fine. Fine. Whatever. I didn't really care what the actual date was, i just needed a reference point to start the plot logic. :[

- Ok, you are absolutely right here. This is one of the main reasons of my confusion! His ship has a date
- flipping device that scrolls through the years. I suppose if they new it was some sort of time travel
- storm... well, Marky mark doesn't seem to be aware of possible random time travel dangers so I would
- think they don't know this.

Did Marky Mark annoy you as much as he annoyed me, especially when it came to this crap? He was just so flippant about what happened to him! He didn't ever really try to figure it out, he was just pissed that he was on a monkey planet and wanted to get off. No trying to reason anything out, NOTHING!!! HELLO MARKY MARK DIDN'T YOU FEEL THE VIBRATIONS OF GOING THROUGH TIME GOD DAMN YOU ARE PISSING ME OFF WHY DON'T YOU GIVE A RAT'S ASS ABOUT HOW UNUSUAL IT IS THAT YOU WENT THROUGH TIME AND THAT MONKEYS ARE TALKING TO YOU GGGAAAAGLASDFALS;!!!!!!

- Anyway, his ship has a date thing, that is smart enough to calculate the date apparently, or to know that he is flying through time and should flip the dates accordingly!!!

LOL!! That's exactly what i was thinking!!!

- What is weird, is Marky mark, a trained professional pilot of said ship seems to be completely unaware of this date telling device for he does not once ever appear to consult it, though they show it to us the audience.

I can't even talk about this rationally. Marky Mark needs to die!!!

- Close. but A) it is not assumed he goes into the future, it is fact. and B) I think it does matter which way he goes. And your dates are a little long. They should be roughly 2150 AD and 2587 AD.

:madface: don't care about the actual dates. And it COULD work that Marky went backwards (yes, i know he didn't because you saw his dial. Me, i couldn't recall 100% for sure.) But anyway, if he goes backwards, all that needs to happen is that the space station goes backwards too when they come to rescue him... only they somehow jump back even farther. Duh. :[

- 2150 AD, but yes.

:BATFACE!!!:

- okokokok, So you skip a few facts here. Let's jump back to or should I say forward to 2587, where he was on the first monkey planet place. He has in the crashed space ship the BAD monkey. He was trapped behind the glass with the gun but not dead. Then they flash to outside the ship and apparently the monkeys and humans are going to live in peace. And the trader monkey, (I like that actor, I can picture his non-monkey face but can't think of his name) thanks him for opening up a whole new world of trading with the humans. It is 2587. He flies into the storm. They show the damn date tracker in his ship again!! (@) :[!! and magically this time it goes backwards, and according to the date tracker thingy, it is 2150 AD again!!@#!@#

Ok, i didn't realize that. He's really back at the original time? That's an amazingly accurate timewarpcloud!!! (I guess it all just depends what direction you fly into the cloud!) :[ :[

- Now backtrack a little bit, the first time he came out of the cloud, he was basically out of control heading for the planet, and he crashed, I thought not much of it. Ok, this time! he came out of the cloud and pretty much seemed aok, So he plots a course for some planet, again, they never mention either time what planets he is going to. So he plots a course for this planet. Now he reaches the planet and for some reason loses control of his ship and has to crash on the planet!!@#@$ How come the freaking monkey can land the pod on a planet and he can't!@#!@#!@#!@ Fricking Marky mark sure is a crappy pilot!!

LOL I HADN'T EVEN THOUGHT OF THAT! THE MONKEY SHOULD BE TEACHING MARKY! THE MONKEY'S LANDING WAS SMOOTH AS BUTTA!!!! :D

- And if a monkey went back and changed history so that everything is monkeyearth then wouldn't marky mark not even exist!!@#!

- Anyway, the other weird thing is the writing on the wall by the monkey statue by where he crashed (:[) his pod said blah blah, here contains the soul of General Thade who saved us or something like that! That just happens to be the name of the monkey trapped in the glass with the gun in the buried ship in the sand in 2587!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

You mean it said that on earth? Well that would certainly explain it don't you think? I was right, only it was evil Thade who got there instead of Jesus monkey or some other benign monkey. He gets out of the glass ship trap and ehhhhhhh somehow builds a ship or something and flies through the oooooooooooooooooooooooooooooooooooooo. :(

- Ok, I am sending this now, because I am busy!

ok me too. time to whirlwind!

Did I put that AAAAAHHHHHHHH on there? I don't remember that at all, maybe it was my way of screaming when I got interrupted and then I sent the email.

okok, I think that is it, so there you go, you don't need to read further down the message unless you just want unenjoyable reminiscing!!! here we go, it is email to send. :D

There is a commercial ... hmm, can I remember what I'm talking about? Oh yeah, it was not a commercial it was on that show Futurama or whatever. And they go to these aliens who are talking about humans before the humans get there. Anyway, these humans bring them like 1 million candy valentine hearts. You know, the ones with the sayings on them! So an alien, who are huge and already hate humans, grabs one and eats it and he says something like, "These are chaulky and unpleasant..." I LOLed big time!!@! %That just cracked me up, because it was funny and I was watching it. And these giant aliens they were getting pissed.... hmm, I bet you can't wait to relay this story to all your friends, they'll really enjoy it!!!!!!

Dear student. Dear dear student. You will come to realize as you get farther up the slopes upon which i guide you that i am quite amusing.... to myself. So please, keep sloping and allow myself to amuse.... myself. Thank you that is all. By the way student, just so you know, my self amusement had nothing whatsoever to do with feces, ASCII or otherwise. Now go.
